

Julian Lebensold

BLAAAAH: Professor Donald Kingsbury, Science, delivers his rebuttal onto the head of Arts' Brian Robinson as the latter looks for his shoes at last night's Professors' Raft. Sole survival of the debauch was Commerce's Professorio sans baccalaureatum Mark Feldman, seen leering in background.

Soviets emphasize similarities

by DANNY RODEN

Three visiting Russian students said last night that the similarities between the systems of education in the USSR and in Canada far outweigh the obvious differences.

At a forum sponsored by the International Students' Association, the three, Vyacheslav Chostakovsky, Valeri Shestakov, and Stanislav Alechin were aided by Boris Yarochevsky, a Soviet exchange student who acted as interpreter.

Soviet students have recently been criticized for (shades of Laurier LaPierre) not being activist enough. However, most of this criticism comes from the students themselves.

There are organizations at Soviet universities similar to those on this continent. An anti-war-in-Viet-Nam committee last summer collected more than 100,000 rubles "for the help of the people of North and South Viet Nam."

Like his American counterpart, the Soviet student is influenced by the draft. However, Yarochevsky said, "A student who graduated from a higher institution receives the rank of officer in reserve, even though he didn't spend a day in the army." He noted that "I went through the army for a couple of years; well, that's life."

Despite the ideological difference between Canada and the Soviet Union, students retain the same basic qualities all over the world: one of Chostakovsky's first remarks was that he was pleased to see so many girls in the audience, and he said that some 60% of all university students in Russia are girls.

Naturally, there are differences between Canada and the Soviet Union: soviet students receive free education and are paid by the government during their stay at the university. Student housing is nominally free, but in Canada there is a shortage of cheap accommodations.

FALL CONVOCATION TODAY

The Founder's Day Convocation will be held today at 4 pm in the Sir Arthur Currie Gym.

More than 400 degrees and diplomas will be conferred, including five honorary degrees. Professor W. L. Morton, one of the recipients, will deliver the Convocation address.

Although classes will not be cancelled, students may absent themselves in order to attend the ceremony.

Feldman floats as profs perish

by BARBARA HARRIS and JOHN WADDELL

Music appreciation 100 and gymnastics 101 were conducted last night in the Union ballroom before a standing-room-only class of 400.

The outcome left Honorary Professor Mark Feldman of Commerce in full command of the '66 Professors' Raft (Rumor has it he plans to sail for Copenhagen tomorrow).

Amidst flying rolls of toilet tissue, pennies, shoes, and a portable bar, overgrown Boy Scout J. J. Jonas of Engineering, demure Brian Robinson of Arts-music, Jolly Green Don Kingsbury of Science and Commerce's Mark "Whoopie" Feldman extolled the virtues of their respective faculties.

Jonas proved beyond doubt that world beer production would not be where it is today without the aid of the Civil Engineer, the Chemical Engineer, and the McGill Engineer. With typical foresight, he also produced his much-used survival kit, equipped with vitamins and several types of stimulants.

Then the Giant, reaching insensible heights, came on, and on, and on... Using some of the most basic techniques of opponent-overcoming, he exhibited his boxing prowess and distributed pennies. His speaking endeavours were restricted to six-letter words. His parting advice to science students was, "For God's sake, you dumb bastards, learn to yell!"

Pied piper Robinson bared his sole before the audience, executed a graceful headstand and performed a heart-rending flute solo, Lullaby of the Leaves. "You have to feel it in your blood," he raved (by this time the other members of the panel were feeling it. Exit Feldman).

Upon his return, Feldman commenced to elucidate the fact that Professor Marshall, scheduled to appear for commerce, was out taking concrete action to better student welfare, contrasted to the empty words and the gestures of the other members of the panel. "Every year they drowned; every year they come back for more." "Professor Marshall is above this type of thing," Feldman commented. Demands from the balcony persuaded him to relate his experiences in the "redlight district" of Copenhagen.

(Continued on page 3)

Nazism dead says prince

by LAZAR SARNA

Prince Hubertus zu Lowenstein, an eye-witness to the rise of the Third Reich, said yesterday that the nazi movement has "no chance of revival", and that "nature has taken care of all the former SS men."

Speaking to the Historical Society, Prince Hubertus emphasized that German youth today are hateful of any traces of nazism because the educational system teaches them to despise "that period of darkness, shame and degradation."

Before the war, the Prince actively engaged in the distribution of leaflets advocating the overthrow and sabotage of the Hitler regime. He worked constantly against Hitler and his terrorism, and predicted war would arise on the day of Hitler's appointment to the Chancellery.

He said the German Resistance Movement arose in the early thirties and was not a last ditch effort to wrest control from a defeated Hitler.

Even though modern civil disobedience tactics were then unknown, "moral resistance could not have had any political success." He said he did not believe that the people did not know of the existence of concentration camps before or during the war. "They did not know the details, but they certainly knew there was something very awful."

Commenting on the present rise of small pseudo-nazi parties in Germany, Prince Hubertus said they "would all be smashed" if they ran in any public election. He said there was no possibility of the neo-nazis gaining power.

OCTOBER 6, 1968

The McGill Daily is published five times a week by the Students' Society of McGill University at 3480 McAvish Street, Telephone 288-4231. Authorized as second class mail by the Post Office Department, Ottawa, and for payment of postage in cash Postage paid at Montreal. Editorial opinions expressed are those of the Managing Board and not the official opinion of the Students' Council.

Printed at 4430 Casgrain St.
Metropolitan Rota Offset Press Corporation 109

MANAGING BOARD

Sandy Gage Editor-in-Chief
Robert Chodos Managing Editor
John Skinner Business Manager
Stephen Schecter Supplement Editor

DEPARTMENT HEADS

Judy Rebeck (Executive Editor); John Dufort (Associate Editor); Peter Allnutt (News Editor); Marc Raboy (News-features Editor); Ellen Roseman (Copy Editor); Lawrence Haimovitch (Sports Editor); Jack Kapica (Photography Editor); Aaron Sarna, Elly Alboim (Senior Staff Writers); Anna Mae Barrett (Archives Librarian); Van Roberts (Advertising Manager).

STAFFERS FOR THIS ISSUE

COMMERCE is KING and feldman is beautiful... the first double masthead in history thanks cathy, susan, mad, sam, and ads... Julian made with the telephoto and layout was simple... wonder who won the baseball... JJ-B.COM.4.
Who wants a job... easy booze all round and a durt to the des... it'll be a long weekend in Cpnghn or wherever you come... blessed are willya, julie, jon and barb... a toasted PEANUT byes... ps, jumper, twas the birds 5-2. p.p.s. c.j. benett is 20 today.

Light in the gloom

Smarting from vicious criticism of U.S. actions in Viet Nam by American Jewish war veterans, the Washington warmongers have been confronted with yet another dissenting group. What, they are asking, should they do with those beastly Quakers who insist on sending medical supplies to Viet Nam, both North and South?

Again the administration is up against that most bitter of foes — one who cannot be bought out and who will not prostitute its beliefs for the sake of convenience.

What should be of vital concern to Canadians is the fact that in the United States' attempts to foil the humanitarianism of the Friends, inroads have been made on the sovereignty of this nation.

To wit: The Department of Trade and Commerce in Ottawa placed an embargo on U.S. medical supplies proceeding to North Viet Nam via Canada, on the grounds that a treaty exists with the U.S. specifically prohibiting such a movement of goods. Then an official of the U.S. government indicated that Canadians taking part in the sending of supplies might be "found in some conspiracy". Finally that most stalwart of Canadian institutions, The Royal Bank of Canada, refused to honor transfers of funds from American Quakers to Canadian Quakers (presumably for the purpose of purchasing medicines and supplies in Canada) on the pretence that they would be jeopardizing their banking interests in the United States, where they have agencies.

Some knowledge of the Religious Society of Friends would indicate that for once Washington may be knocking its head against a brick wall. There are some 200,000 Friends or Quakers in the world and their numbers are growing. The majority of these are in the United States. The Society was formed in the middle of the 17th century and has been described as the "extreme left wing of the Puritan Movement". It has a long history of persecution both in England and in the New World. Their founder, George Fox, placed a strong emphasis on the application of Christ's teaching to the whole of life and this has brought them into conflict with the state on many occasions. But the Friends are by no means anarchists; they have consistently maintained that they owe obedience to the State, except where there is 'a conflict with the dictates of conscience'. They are avidly against war; in the words of George Fox "we utterly deny all outward wars and strife and fighting with outward weapons, for any end or under any pretence whatsoever".

In attempting to foil the Quakers' errands of mercy, the U.S. government has taken on an impossible task and by opposing this group has publicized its own hypocrisy. For was it not the U.S. President himself who maintained that the United States is not against the people of North Viet Nam but rather its government, and proposed an aid program of one billion dollars to help the people of all Viet Nam? And yet medical supplies collected by a religious group, are not allowed to be passed on to the Red Cross in North Viet Nam to alleviate the results of attack from the skies.

LETTERS

Power and Power

Dear Sir,

Mr. Ostrow in his letter in Wednesday's Daily, poses the problem of political revolution in the terms which Camus employed in The Rebel, and which can perhaps be summed up as the confrontation between power and justice. It is known that this is the theme which haunted Camus throughout his later life, certainly from the moment his idealist hopes in the role of the Resistance after France's liberation were shattered, and from the moment the institutionalization of terror in Stalinist Russia put an end to any hopes he might have nurtured in the humanization of the then-existing Communist order. It was this steadfast and uncompromising position which was to lead to Camus's famous break with Sartre in the summer of 1952, and to the agonizing and often solitary role he was to play in the remaining eight years of his life, as a sort of moral spokesman for his age. This courage and integrity were recognized even by Sartre, in the moving tribute he wrote in L'Observateur, on Camus's death.

But for all Camus's intellectual grandeur, we must not blind ourselves to certain of his shortcomings. For example, we still remember his inability to take a definitive position during the Algerian war, a conflict in which we must admit all the blood was not on one side, but in which the necessity for choice was all the same paramount. It is here that the true argument between Camus and Sartre, and even more, between Camus and Fanon lies. Is one to hesitate and refuse commitment in the name of a higher moral good, i.e. the injustice of murder on whoever's part, or is one to commit oneself to violence, if through violence one can attain the liberation of a people, i.e. what one believes to be its greatest good.

This was the way Camus himself stated the problem in The Just, and in that work he opted for commitment involving a just, though suicidal, use of violence. But the problem in the real world, the world of Algeria or Viet Nam, is, alas, not that simple. For here we no longer have sensitive intellectuals, plotting the downfall of tyranny in their garrets, while the revolution remains a distant hope, but vast popular movements, in the maquis and villages, in the process of living their revolution, taking arms against those who take arms against them. The problem is no longer a simply moral problem, but a political one. Is one for or against the National Liberation Front? Ivan Karamazov's question changes nothing. We are forced to choose or resign.

It is for this reason that Camus's position in The Rebel, beautiful and moral as it may be, does not really help us solve the concrete problem of political action. For in the end the choice is not between power and justice, but between power and power. Whether we like it or not, this is the level at which a political discussion must ultimately take place.

Philip Resnick, M.A. 2

Date A Few

Dear Sir,

Your editorial, "Feudalism in Our Hospitals" (October 3, 1968), was read with great interest by members of the nursing profession both on and off the campus. Your concern for nurses is appreciated, but certain of your statements are exaggerated or erroneous as regards the situation in Quebec.

From the general context of the editorial it is inferred that you are discussing Hospital Schools of Nursing. In reference to student nurses, you state: "During their first three years in Nursing School, they complete without pay an eleven-hour day and a full academic curriculum". A schedule like that would be overwhelming, if it were true. Actually, the students have an eight-hour day. During these eight hours they may be in lectures and/or obtaining planned experience in patient care under the guidance of an instructor. Later during their training, students work periods of evening and night duty with graduate nurses.

It is true that student nurses may be placed in charge of a unit before graduation. This can occur as part of the more senior student's planned experience, or, on occasion, because of a temporary shortage of graduate staff. In such a situation the student's responsibility is more apparent than real: the actual responsibility is carried by the area nursing supervisor.

The student involved in this is not paid a salary. Room, board, laundry, textbooks, and uniforms are provided during the three-year training period, and no charge is made for tuition. It must be admitted that this is an inexpensive method of obtaining an education and gaining a foothold in a profession.

Hospitals are, unquestionably, quasi-bureaucratic organizations with formal lines of authority and responsibility. Acceptance of these must be assured, and discipline must be maintained in order to ensure optimum care for the patient in all circumstances. To describe this organization as "autocratic" and "feudal" is, however, to seriously over-state the case, and to deny the important contributions made at all levels of nursing staff through democratic means.

You are concerned about nurses' salaries. So am I. Salaries should be commensurate with training and responsibility, and steady progress toward that end is now being made. In discussing wages, however, it does not make sense to compare the maximum wage for one category with the minimum for another. The arguments supporting the proposed salary scale are better based than that.

I would not like to leave you with the impression that nurses are now satisfied with the gains that have been made in nursing education, working conditions, and salaries. On the contrary, we are working and planning for continued improvement in all of these. In the meantime, please don't paint the picture blacker than it is.

On re-reading your editorial, I am left with the feeling that one of your staff is presently dating a student nurse who, for the moment at least, has lost her objectivity.

Sheila O'Neill
President, Graduate Nurses'

Booboo

Dear Sir,

I think that I speak for many people in condemning the "post-mortem" address of the Debating Club president at the most recent Hyde Park. The meeting had focused on the controversial Miss Kahn-Tineta Horn. In her accusations of racism, her condemnation of student criticism and her apparent apathy towards French Canada she, no doubt, struck one off-note with everyone.

The Debating Club president finally spoke out implying that the purpose of having Miss Horn to the meeting was to show just how wrong a person can be. Fortunately the articulate apology of the master-of-ceremonies eased the situation.

The fundamental mistake made by the president cannot be so easily forgotten nor forgiven. He has set a poor standard, one which must not be acknowledged. Would his indiscretions have been permitted if he had not hidden behind the veil of authority? Should he have spoken on behalf (or under the impression of being on behalf) of the Debating Club in offending the legitimate opinions of Miss Horn? Unless the members of that club can say yes and can feel within them that divine insight that permits absolute moral judgment, then I say it is time they examined both the purpose of Hyde Park and the wisdom behind their choice of a president.

Norman Dale
B.Sc. 2

OCTOBER 8, 1968

The McGill Daily is published five times a week by the Students' Society of McGill University at 3480 McAvish Street, Telephone 288-4231. Authorized as second class mail by the Post Office Department, Ottawa, and for payment of postage in cash Postage paid at Montreal. Editorial opinions expressed are those of the Managing Board and not the official opinion of the Students' Council.

Printed at 4430 Casgrain St.
Metropolitan Rota Offset Press Corporation 109

MANAGING BOARD

Sandy Gage Editor-in-Chief
Robert Chodos Managing Editor
John Skinner Business Manager
Stephen Schecter Supplement Editor

DEPARTMENT HEADS

Judy Rebeck (Executive Editor); John Dufort (Associate Editor); Peter Allnutt (News Editor); Marc Raboy (News-features Editor); Ellen Roseman (Copy Editor); Lawrence Haimovitch (Sports Editor); Jack Kapica (Photography Editor); Aaron Sarna, Elly Alboim (Senior Staff Writers); Anna Mae Barrett (Archives Librarian); Van Roberts (Advertising Manager).

STAFFERS FOR THIS ISSUE

COMMERCE is KING and Feldman is beautiful... the first double masthead in history thanks Cathy, Susan, mad, sam, and ads... Julian made with the telephoto and layout was simple... wonder who won the baseball... JJ-B.COM.4.
Who wants a job... easy booze all round and a durt to the des... it'll be a long weekend in Cpnghn or wherever you come... blessed are willya, julia, jon and barb... a toasted PEANUT byes... ps, jumper, twas the birds 5-2. p.p.s. c.j. benett is 20 today.

Light in the gloom

Smarting from vicious criticism of U.S. actions in Viet Nam by American Jewish war veterans, the Washington warmongers have been confronted with yet another dissenting group. What, they are asking, should they do with those beastly Quakers who insist on sending medical supplies to Viet Nam, both North and South?

Again the administration is up against that most bitter of foes — one who cannot be bought out and who will not prostitute its beliefs for the sake of convenience.

What should be of vital concern to Canadians is the fact that in the United States' attempts to foil the humanitarianism of the Friends, inroads have been made on the sovereignty of this nation.

To wit: The Department of Trade and Commerce in Ottawa placed an embargo on U.S. medical supplies proceeding to North Viet Nam via Canada, on the grounds that a treaty exists with the U.S. specifically prohibiting such a movement of goods. Then an official of the U.S. government indicated that Canadians taking part in the sending of supplies might be "found in some conspiracy". Finally that most stalwart of Canadian institutions, The Royal Bank of Canada, refused to honor transfers of funds from American Quakers to Canadian Quakers (presumably for the purpose of purchasing medicines and supplies in Canada) on the pretence that they would be jeopardizing their banking interests in the United States, where they have agencies.

Some knowledge of the Religious Society of Friends would indicate that for once Washington may be knocking its head against a brick wall. There are some 200,000 Friends or Quakers in the world and their numbers are growing. The majority of these are in the United States. The Society was formed in the middle of the 17th century and has been described as the "extreme left wing of the Puritan Movement". It has a long history of persecution both in England and in the New World. Their founder, George Fox, placed a strong emphasis on the application of Christ's teaching to the whole of life and this has brought them into conflict with the state on many occasions. But the Friends are by no means anarchists; they have consistently maintained that they owe obedience to the State, except where there is 'a conflict with the dictates of conscience'. They are avidly against war; in the words of George Fox "we utterly deny all outward wars and strife and fighting with outward weapons, for any end or under any pretence whatsoever".

In attempting to foil the Quakers' errands of mercy, the U.S. government has taken on an impossible task and by opposing this group has publicized its own hypocrisy. For was it not the U.S. President himself who maintained that the United States is not against the people of North Viet Nam but rather its government, and proposed an aid program of one billion dollars to help the people of all Viet Nam? And yet medical supplies collected by a religious group, are not allowed to be passed on to the Red Cross in North Viet Nam to alleviate the results of attack from the skies.

LETTERS

Power and Power

Dear Sir,

Mr. Ostrow in his letter in Wednesday's Daily, poses the problem of political revolution in the terms which Camus employed in The Rebel, and which can perhaps be summed up as the confrontation between power and justice. It is known that this is the theme which haunted Camus throughout his later life, certainly from the moment his idealist hopes in the role of the Resistance after France's liberation were shattered, and from the moment the institutionalization of terror in Stalinist Russia put an end to any hopes he might have nurtured in the humanization of the then-existing Communist order. It was this steadfast and uncompromising position which was to lead to Camus's famous break with Sartre in the summer of 1952, and to the agonizing and often solitary role he was to play in the remaining eight years of his life, as a sort of moral spokesman for his age. This courage and integrity were recognized even by Sartre, in the moving tribute he wrote in L'Observateur, on Camus's death.

But for all Camus's intellectual grandeur, we must not blind ourselves to certain of his shortcomings. For example, we still remember his inability to take a definitive position during the Algerian war, a conflict in which we must admit all the blood was not on one side, but in which the necessity for choice was all the same paramount. It is here that the true argument between Camus and Sartre, and even more, between Camus and Fanon lies. Is one to hesitate and refuse commitment in the name of a higher moral good, i.e. the injustice of murder on whoever's part, or is one to commit oneself to violence, if through violence one can attain the liberation of a people, i.e. what one believes to be its greatest good.

This was the way Camus himself stated the problem in The Just, and in that work he opted for commitment involving a just, though suicidal, use of violence. But the problem in the real world, the world of Algeria or Viet Nam, is, alas, not that simple. For here we no longer have sensitive intellectuals, plotting the downfall of tyranny in their garrets, while the revolution remains a distant hope, but vast popular movements, in the maquis and villages, in the process of living their revolution, taking arms against those who take arms against them. The problem is no longer a simply moral problem, but a political one. Is one for or against the National Liberation Front? Ivan Karamazov's question changes nothing. We are forced to choose or resign.

It is for this reason that Camus's position in The Rebel, beautiful and moral as it may be, does not really help us solve the concrete problem of political action. For in the end the choice is not between power and justice, but between power and power. Whether we like it or not, this is the level at which a political discussion must ultimately take place.

Philip Resnick, M.A. 2

Date A Few

Dear Sir,

Your editorial, "Feudalism in Our Hospitals" (October 3, 1968), was read with great interest by members of the nursing profession both on and off the campus. Your concern for nurses is appreciated, but certain of your statements are exaggerated or erroneous as regards the situation in Quebec.

From the general context of the editorial it is inferred that you are discussing Hospital Schools of Nursing. In reference to student nurses, you state: "During their first three years in Nursing School, they complete without pay an eleven-hour day and a full academic curriculum". A schedule like that would be overwhelming, if it were true. Actually, the students have an eight-hour day. During these eight hours they may be in lectures and/or obtaining planned experience in patient care under the guidance of an instructor. Later during their training, students work periods of evening and night duty with graduate nurses.

It is true that student nurses may be placed in charge of a unit before graduation. This can occur as part of the more senior student's planned experience, or, on occasion, because of a temporary shortage of graduate staff. In such a situation the student's responsibility is more apparent than real: the actual responsibility is carried by the area nursing supervisor.

The student involved in this is not paid a salary. Room, board, laundry, textbooks, and uniforms are provided during the three-year training period, and no charge is made for tuition. It must be admitted that this is an inexpensive method of obtaining an education and gaining a foothold in a profession.

Hospitals are, unquestionably, quasi-bureaucratic organizations with formal lines of authority and responsibility. Acceptance of these must be assured, and discipline must be maintained in order to ensure optimum care for the patient in all circumstances. To describe this organization as "autocratic" and "feudal" is, however, to seriously over-state the case, and to deny the important contributions made at all levels of nursing staff through democratic means.

You are concerned about nurses' salaries. So am I. Salaries should be commensurate with training and responsibility, and steady progress toward that end is now being made. In discussing wages, however, it does not make sense to compare the maximum wage for one category with the minimum for another. The arguments supporting the proposed salary scale are better based than that.

I would not like to leave you with the impression that nurses are now satisfied with the gains that have been made in nursing education, working conditions, and salaries. On the contrary, we are working and planning for continued improvement in all of these. In the meantime, please don't paint the picture blacker than it is.

On re-reading your editorial, I am left with the feeling that one of your staff is presently dating a student nurse who, for the moment at least, has lost her objectivity.

Sheila O'Neill
President, Graduate Nurses'

Booboo

Dear Sir,

I think that I speak for many people in condemning the "post-mortem" address of the Debating Club president at the most recent Hyde Park. The meeting had focused on the controversial Miss Kahn-Tineta Horn. In her accusations of racism, her condemnation of student criticism and her apparent apathy towards French Canada she, no doubt, struck one off-note with everyone.

The Debating Club president finally spoke out implying that the purpose of having Miss Horn to the meeting was to show just how wrong a person can be. Fortunately the articulate apology of the master-of-ceremonies eased the situation.

The fundamental mistake made by the president cannot be so easily forgotten nor forgiven. He has set a poor standard, one which must not be acknowledged. Would his indiscretions have been permitted if he had not hidden behind the veil of authority? Should he have spoken on behalf (or under the impression of being on behalf) of the Debating Club in offending the legitimate opinions of Miss Horn? Unless the members of that club can say yes and can feel within them that divine insight that permits absolute moral judgment, then I say it is time they examined both the purpose of Hyde Park and the wisdom behind their choice of a president.

Norman Dale
B.Sc. 2

INTRAMURAL TOUCHFOOTBALL SCHEDULE:

Thursday, Oct. 6th — 1:00 p.m.
F.F. — Eagles vs Bears
Stad. — Law I vs Aces
L.C. — Grads vs Architecture
Friday, October 7th — 1:00 p.m.
F.F. — Debits vs Animals
Stad. — Barbs vs Bahamas
L.C. — Staph vs Fuds

NOTE: If there is anyone who signed up for a team and does not know which team he was put on please call the Intramural Office, VI. 4-6311, local 431.

STUDENTS' SOCIETY INTERNAL AFFAIRS DEPARTMENT

NEEDS STAFF FOR THE FOLLOWING COMMITTEES:

- 1 — Financial Affairs
- 2 — Library for Student Publications
- 3 — Student Co-op
- 4 — Cafeteria
- 5 — Social
- 6 — Bookstore

Leave name, address and telephone number at the switchboard

Kahn-Tineta blows horn

by ELLEN ROSEMAN

Beautiful Kahn-Tineta Horn, fiery "part-time Indian" from Caughnawaga, paid a return trip "to educate McGill students" yesterday and received an even more vociferous reception than last year.

Her admittedly racist statements — "French is a useless language spoken only in Viet Nam and Equatorial Africa," and "There are two kinds of people in the world—Indians and everyone else," — were greeted with some cheers but mostly jeers.

The arguments she used to back up her iconoclastic views caused much of the furore such as this one against bilingualism, "It is an old Indian proverb that the more languages a person speaks, the more confused he becomes," or "Students with their long hair want to be mothers".

George Radwansky, BA 3, took the floor. "You may call yourself a mouth-piece for the Indian people," he said, "but we think you're just half of that — a mouth." "A horn," shouted someone in the audience. Another person pointed out that this spokesman for 200,000 Indians does not even live on a reservation.

More to the point, she charged the law-courts with injustice against Indians. "My brother Joel was charged with assault, dragged through a nine-month trial, then fined $10 and dismissed." She followed this by saying that another brother Frank spent two years in prison "for committing the crime of going to Westmount High School."

"The Indians are your landlords," Miss Horn revealed, "and the rent is now about $300,000 a day." Her main policy statement about Indian affairs, was that "students need to be educated about the social, economic and cultural status of the Indians". However, at another point she said that "students should leave the Indians alone and mind their own business."

About the heckling and general rowdiness of the audience, Kahn Tineta said after her speech, "Every statement in my address is backed by historical fact. Why history should cause students to become hysterical, insulting and threatening, is an indication of the opposition to free speech."

Feldman . . .

(Continued from page 1)

Feldman clinched the debate, however, when he told of his experiences in Professor Robinson's English 100, in the days of Antony and Cleopatra. He then continued to tell a touching tale of three McGill professors on sabbatical in Copenhagen. His moral: What they won't do for science, they'll do for money.

The final judgment, by applause and general riffraff, left only Feldman standing.

MCGILL BIOLOGICAL SOCIETY

Wood's Hole, Mass. and Harvard Trip

Students planning to go on this trip are requested to bring a deposit of $10.00 by Tuesday Oct. 11th, to the offices of the Biological Society at W 1/7 of the Stewart Biology Building.

Today
at Hillel House
3460 Stanley Street

Concluding Day of Succoth Festival (Shemini Azereth)

Thursday, October 6,
12:00 noon - Festival Service

including Yizkor Memorial prayers

1:00 p.m. - Kiddush In The Succah
(wine and cake)

Note:
Gala Simchas Torah
Celebration Friday,
October 7, 1:00 p.m.

"Rejoice In Thy Festival"
(Deut. 16:14)

Communiqué

MOB521 SYB388

SYA609 SY NC543 PD TDN 23 PWS MONTREAL PQ 07 648 EDT

ALL MEMBERS OF THE STUDENTS' SOCIETY OF MCGILL U MONTREAL PQ

public address NOW ACCEPTING APPLICATIONS STOP WEEKLY TABLOID TO HANDLE PUBLIC RELATIONS FOR STUDENT GOVERNMENT PUBLICITY FOR STUDENT SOCIETY ORGANIZATIONS STOP CLOSE CONTACT WITH PRESS MEDIA AND OTHER UNIVERSITIES STOP INFORMATION OFFICE TO SERVE ENTIRE CAMPUS STOP SPECIAL CONSIDERATIONS GIVEN TO PEOPLE INTERESTED IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS UNIVERSITIES TRENDS SOCIAL EDUCATIONAL POLITICAL ADVERTISING PUBLIC RELATIONS JOURNALISM STOP SPECIAL TRAINING CLASSES IN TECHNICAL ASPECTS OF JOURNALISM TO START IMMEDIATELY STOP APPLY ROOM 409 UNIVERSITY CENTRE PRECISELY 1:10 PM THURSDAY OCTOBER 6 1966 STOP.

LEON GOLD DIR INFO & PR BUR UNIV CEN 409

MK CK 23 PLS (79)

public address is a service of the information & public relations bureau

today

COMMITTEE TO END THE WAR IN VIET NAM: General meeting, election of officers, Union B26-27, 1 pm.

CHEMICAL INSTITUTE OF CANADA: Student-Professor mixer, panel discussion followed by general meeting. Union cafeteria, 7:30 pm.

SYMPHONIC BAND: Rehearsal - all members must attend, Redpath Hall, 5 pm.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE CLUB: 2nd series game, Union coffee lounge 7:25 pm.

SANDWICH THEATRE: "Out of the Flying Pan" by David Camp-ton, Union theatre, 1:15 pm.

SAVOY SOCIETY: Practice for men's chorus, Union 307, 1 pm.

MARTLETS: Regular practice, Union 307, 7 pm.

COMPUTING SOCIETY: Meeting and talk "Putting your program through" by Hari Anand, systems programmer, Computing Centre, McConnell Bldg., Room 204, 1 pm.

PHYSICS SOCIETY: Movie — "Time Dilation Experiment with Mu Mesons", PSC 106, 1 pm.

REDMAN BAND: Rehearsal, positions open for brass, percussion and woodwinds. Middle Field — front of Winter Stadium, 7 pm. For information phone Stu at 844-1804.

HIGH SCHOOL TUTORIAL PROJECT: Volunteers interested in tutoring, come to Union, 1-3 pm.

UNITED CHURCH STUDENT FELLOWSHIP: First social evening, old and new members, Newman House 3484 Peel, 7:45 pm.

LIBERAL CLUB: General meeting for old and new members, L230, 1 pm.

HILLEL: Festival of Shemini Azereth — service in the chapel, Kiddush, refreshments, 3460 Stanley, 1 pm.

PAKISTAN CLUB: General Meeting, old and new members must attend, others welcome, Union 458, 7 pm.

MALE CHORUS: Practice, Green Rm. RVC, 555 Sherbrooke, new members welcome, 7 pm.

BAHA'I ASSOCIATION: First general meeting — everybody welcome, Union 458, 1 pm.

NEWMAN: Mass, 3484 Peel, 1 pm.

INVESTMENT CLUB: Meeting, Union B-457, 1 pm.

ANGLICAN CHAPLAINCY: Discussion — lunch available, Canterbury House, 3555 University, 1:10 pm.

Classified

These ads may be placed in our advertising office, main floor, University Centre, 9 am to 4 pm. Ads received by noon appear the following day except for ads to begin Friday. Deadline for Friday ads is 10 am preceding Thursday.

HOUSING

SHARE MODERN, fully furnished, fully equipped apartment near McGill $50. 1575 Summerhill, Apt. 509, after 6 p.m. near Sherbrooke, Cote des Neiges.

TO SUBLET: Apartment, furnished, 1½, Lorne Ave. near McGill, 288-8333.

WANTED: one more girl to share downtown apartment with two McGill students. Call 849-7447.

FOR RENT, two bedrooms and sitting room in comfortable home, suitable for couple, women students, 45 minutes from campus. Phone: 672-4896.

GIRL WANTED for co-ed co-op. Immediate occupancy. 8 minutes from campus. Approx. $30 per month. Call: 844-5559 after 6.

ONE OR TWO GIRLS, 5 room apartment to share. T.M.R. near station. Rent $38-$57. See Room 126, Peterson Hall, Miss J. Sollic.

TUTORING

COMPETENT TUTOR in 1st and 2nd year math and physics. Reasonable rates. Contact Mr. Kristiansen at 842-2408.

Typing

ALL YOUR REPORTS typewritten accurately. Reasonable. IBM. Telephone 481-5934 after 6.

TYPIST, experienced in theses, term papers, etc. seeks work at home. For information call 482-5749, Mrs. Bendit.

EXPERIENCED, LOW RATES: call Marcy at 737-6766 after 6 p.m. for typing of term papers, theses, reports, etc.

SKI LODGES

SHAWBRIDGE: Winterized, heated ski cottage. 5 bedrooms, living room, kitchen, completely furnished. Close to transportation. Nov. 15 - April 15, $800. By appointment only 747-9536.

M.O.C. SKI HOUSE in Shawbridge. $5 food and accommodations per weekend. Cut rates for members. Call Jane: 747-3418, Anita Salmon, R.V.C.

FOR SALE

LAB COATS on sale now at the McIntyre Bldg. Room 129 ground floor. All sizes, men's and ladies'.

PIANO, upright $150. Also two acoustic speaker cabinets $45. 31" high x 25" wide x 15" deep, for 15" woofers. Call Abe, 733-3759 around 6 p.m.

HONDA 150, excellent condition. Immediate sale, very reasonable. After 7, 486-6070.

QUICK SALE 1963 Corvair Monza. Transistor radio, white-walls, bucket seats, standard transmission, 33,000 miles. Reason for sale - insolvency. 3575 University St. Apt. 512, 5-8 p.m.

RELAXMASTER extra long bed; pair of men's skis six feet eight inches long with boots and poles. 481-9461.

ALPINE 1964, New factory guaranteed engine, winter tires, ski rack, $1,000. Phone 484-5456.

ONE MCGILL BLAZER, in perfect condition. Fits sizes 12-14. Price: $10.00. Call 486-9990 anytime.

HONDA, 1965, 65 cc. Excellent condition. Phone 739-5852 after 5.

JAWA 50 cc scooter cheap, only 600 miles, call 844-7463 after 6.

1963 BSM 175 cc motorcycle in good condition for $250 or best offer. Phone 288-1514.

JUDO SUIT, half price, like new. Call 271-7420 after 7 p.m.

LOST

PAIR OF CYMBALS from Currie Gym or middle field Thursday night. Please return to gym storeroom or Stu.: 844-1804.

MISCELLANEOUS

BUDDY KAYE Orchestras, Reg'd. Orchestras of all sizes, music for all occasions. Telephone 748-8370.

CIC Student-Professor Mixer to be held on Thursday, Oct. 6 at 7:30 in the Union Cafeteria. All members welcome.

BASS GUITARIST available for $ & R, R & B group. Experienced, equipped. Call Rus: 845-4531.

WILL EXCHANGE French conversation for English. Telephone: 522-1334.

COFFEE HOUSE CINEMA, 16 mm. sound. Admission free. Refreshments, open 11:30 a.m. 1191 Mountain, near St. Catherine, 861-7902. This week: Lonely Boy (NFB) Phoebe (NFB), Universe, Of Sport and Men.

HOUSE PARTY for students near campus each Friday night 7-12 p.m. for invitation write to 3460 Durocher Ave. Apt. 405, Montreal 18.

ATTENTION BUDDING BWIDGENIKS; lessons in bidding and play offered. Ten lessons for $10.00. Call Denis 842-3744. Or be in Union coffee lounge Mon. - Thurs. 7:25.

WANTED female to help foreign student in economics 101. Please contact Stephy: 844-6194.

AN N.D.G. RESIDENT will exchange Russian lessons for English. Please phone 486-5606.

BABYSITTER required for two year old boy. Wed. 2:45-8:45, Thursday, 2:45-5:45 p.m. Three blocks from McGill. 288-6838.

MCGILL PRE-MED: Dr. Wilder Penfield, renowned neurosurgeon and honorary consultant of the Montreal Neurological Institute, to speak on "Medicine and the Family in Mainland China". Slides will be shown. Palmer theatre, McIntyre Medical Bldg., 1 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 12th.

TWO RESIDENCE MEN have car will travel. Wanted: two congenial young ladies for Thanksgiving companionship on weekend trips anywhere. Phone: 845-7409.

RIDES

RIDE (AND RETURN) wanted to New York City, Friday, Oct. 7. Will share expenses. Phone Christine, 481-9752.

NEW YORK CITY there and back Thanksgiving weekend. Willing to split travelling cost. Call Nancy between 8 p.m. - 10 p.m.: 484-5772.

SYRACUSE need ride Friday night or people to share cost of rented car. Will drive. Contact 842-3041 after 5:45 p.m.

BOSTON, OCT. 7 For Tom Rush concert Thurs. afternoon or Friday morning. Will share expenses. Call: 842-4374.

3 GIRLS want ride to New York City Friday. Share expenses. Contact Claire Marshall. 842-0477.

FEMALE will share expenses for ride to London for Thanksgiving weekend. Call Liz: 932-7989.

QUEBEC CITY, 2 people wishing to leave Montreal Oct. 6, 7 or 8, returning Oct. 10 will pay share of transportation costs. Call Helen: HU. 8-6369.

RIDE WANTED for two girls, five days a week, from the vicinity of Guelph and Davies in Cote St. Luc, to McGill arriving approximately 8:30 a.m.

McGill Hellenic Club Annual Dance

October 8th at
Ritz Carlton Hotel

Admission $3.50 — Semi-Formal

Tickets on sale at Students' Union or phone HU. 8-2776

McGill Players - Paupers co-production

THE FIREBUGS

by MAX FRISCH

Sept. 28, 29, 30, Oct. 1 — Oct. 5, 6, 7, 8

University Theatre — University Centre

Tickets $1.50
Students $1.25
8:30 p.m. sharp

STUDENT REPRESENTATION ON COMMITTEES OF UNIVERSITY SENATE

The Students' Society has been invited to place representatives on certain University Senate committees. These committees act in a dual capacity: they advise the Senate and Administration on activities coming within their frame of reference, and perform certain delegated functions.

The location of students as full voting members on these committees can contribute to the democratization of University structures. Students will be provided with opportunities to observe the workings of Senate Committees; to criticize current policies and proposals as representatives of the Students' Society; and to propose solutions to problems which affect the student body.

Applications are called for:

Officer of University Relations

To co-ordinate relations with the University Senate and Administration, especially with respect to student representation. He will participate in planning and communication and be responsible to the Students' Council.

One Representative on each of the following:

University Libraries Committee

Advices the Senate on matters concerning planning and policy for the entire library system. Meets at least once every two months.

University Placement Committee

Works with the Placement Service on summer, part-time, and permanent employment for students and graduates. The summer job problem urgently requires original thinking and hard work. Meets irregularly, as required.

University Scholarships Committee

Advices the Senate on accepting donations of scholarships. A sub-committee grants scholarships. Meets irregularly at least twice a year.

Committee on Student Health

Advices the Principal and Senate on matters relating to student health and the Health Service. Meets in November and as required.

Committee on Sessional Dates

Advices the Senate on the Academic Calendar for the upcoming year. Meets in December.

Student Aid Appeals Committee (ad hoc)

Hears appeals for grants of financial aid rejected by Office of Student Aid. Meets "as required"; has not yet met.

University Libraries Liaison Committee

(3 representatives)

Acts as a liaison between students and the University Libraries Committee. Deals with specific problems of students using the libraries. Meets once a month or as required.

If you are interested in this work and would like to find out more about it, you are invited to contact Mark Wilson or David Ticoll at 842-7003, or leave a message in Union 411 (local 66).

Applications should be made to the S. C. Office, first floor of the Union.

Applications Deadline: 4:45 PM Oct. 14

Drop in and drip

FRENCH
SPANISH
GERMAN

Private, semi-private or small group courses for beginners to very advanced.
From $1.25 hourly

Montreal Language School
900 Sherbrooke W.
Opposite McGill 849-5871